BIO

The writing team of Chase Heinrich and Micah Steinberg sold their first television pitch shortly after joining forces in the fall of 2013. They currently submit jokes that make air for award-winning shows such as Two and a Half Men and Mom. Recently, their original spec pilot, Four More Years, was a finalist in the 2015 Screencraft TV Pilot Contest.

Chase Heinrich was born in Corpus Christi, TX, and earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Texas State University. While in Austin, Chase wrote freelance movie reviews for the Austin Chronicle and managed an independent video store. He came to Los Angeles in the fall of 2010, where he quickly gained employment as a writers' assistant for various CBS, Comedy Central, STARZ and Nickelodeon productions.

Micah was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania, and acquired a taste for writing and storytelling at a young age. He attended Syracuse University where he studied Television and Film Writing. After moving to Los Angeles, he began working as a production assistant for Disney XD before quickly ascending to writers' assistant positions for TV Land and Nickelodeon.
